One of the greatest assets that any community can possess is a feeling of good will between the inhabitants. Cameron has many people within its borders. Most of them are honestly and sincerely attempting to live meritorious lives. There is no reason why they should not include in their program an intentional cultivation of a spirit of friendliness and kindness toward each other.

We have heard of two citizens of Cameron, who, not many months ago, spent their vacation at a popular resort, where they met many people of charm and culture. Talking about their new found friends they came to the conclusion, that, here in Cameron, there are many such delightful companions, to be enjoyed by those who approach them in the right way and with the right spirit of mutual good will.

There is much truth in their realization. We who live in Cameron pursue our vocations in search of the coin we need, and very often we become so intent upon its acquisition that we spare not time that is necessary to become acquainted with our neighbors. In older days it was different, but this modern age of speed in all things, finds us rushing through life, without taking time to enjoy the best neighbors that can be found in the world.

As a community asset there is nothing so inviting to new comers as a healthy social spirit among the inhabitants of a town or city. People who come to Cameron will be charmed with it if they find here a spirit of helpful service and people who rejoice as much in the friendship of their own people as in the recognition of money.

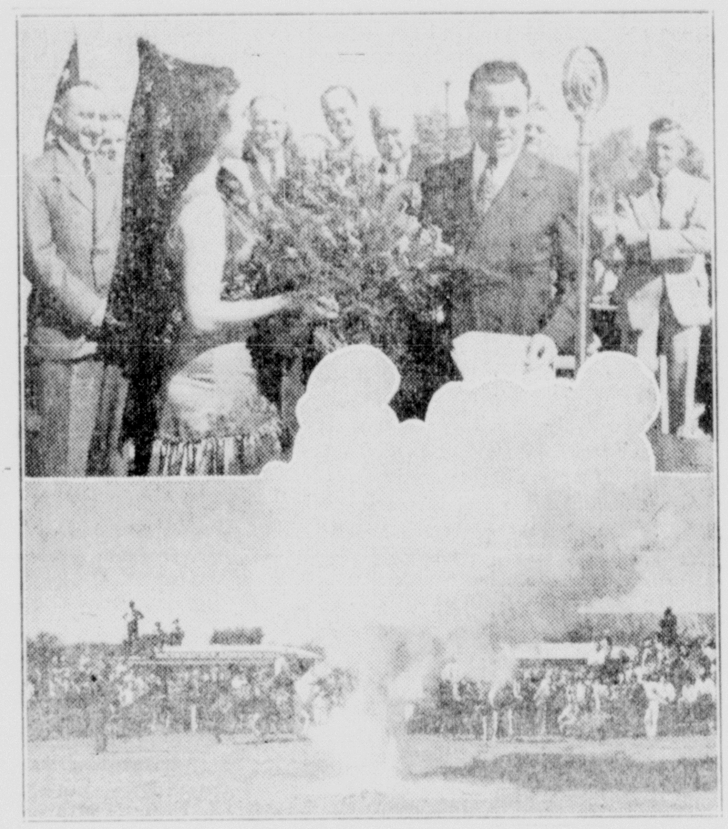

So therefore, this week, the Herald suggests to all those who read this article that they resolve, at once, to serve their friends truly and generously, and to live a part of each day for the benefit of all the citizens of this city.

The loyal booster of Cameron is interested in material success, but mainly because through excess income that it brings, our town will be able to cultivate finer things.

Make no mistake, culture does not follow poverty. It arrvies with material success. While a people make a great mistake in attaching to financial success all virtue, they are just as far astray when they fail to give it due consideration.

The best work for Cameron is success for its citizens. The man who reads this article, hoping for a larger future in Cameron and for Cameron will do most by accomplishing a great success in his own field of activity, which will enable him to do something for the community and its citizens.

Texas Centennial Under Way

"Emblematic of all the soil and soul of Texas" was Governor James V. Allred's description of the stirring ground-breaking ceremony at Dallas October 12, which began construction on the $1,200,000 State of Texas building at the Texas Centennial central exposition. The top shows a comely Senorita greeting the Governor with an armful of Texas centennial roses, following his inspiring appeal for statewide unity in the Centennial movement, while the lower catches the dynamite blast which broke ground for the magnificent State building.

The San Gabriel Pirate Tales

The San Gabriel High School wishes to express their appreciation to the Cameron Herald for the complimentary copy sent to them each week. We are glad to have the paper in our library each week and the students are enjoying it.

The San Gabriel school opened September 16th with the registration on the 13th. The faculty numbers eleven with Mr. T. N. Wood serving as superintendent for the sixth year. The school is a four year high school with 15 accredited units. We are expecting to fulfill the remaining affiliation requirements this year so as to be a four year standard high school.

A new $25,000 school building has been approved under the WPA project, and work on this building is to start soon. The building will be on asset to our community.

Seniors Elected Officers

Lonzo Johnson, senior, was elected president of the Milam County F. F. A. at a meeting held in the Sharp school building October 5th. "Lonnie" is a well qualified young man and we feel he will lead the Future Farmers to success.

School Well Represented at Fair

The school float "Goddess of Water" won first place as the best out of town float in the parade at the Milam County Fair October 10.

We want to take this opportunity to express our thanks to Mauritz-Baldwin Corporation for the use of their building and all the many courtesies shown to us while we were visitors in their city.

Our school exhibit won second place and our F. F. A. exhibit won a third place. We wanted to help "put over" the Fair, and we feel our efforts were not in vain.

Army Wants 460 Men And Officers Will Be Here Friday

The United States Army wants 460 men at once to join the 77th Field Artillery which is to garrison Fort D. A. Russell at Marfa about November 1.

Recruiting officers for the army will be in Cameron Friday and Saturday of this week to enlist men for this service.

The Herald has been authorized to say that the service now being offered is one of great opportunity. Men enlisting have an opportunity for rapid advancement and their enlistment is not subject to seniority but each will be given advantages according to their talents.

Men accepted will be sent immediately at government expense to the Fort at Marfa. Recruiting officers will be in the federal building on Saturday October 20 and 21.

CHURCH OF CHRIST TO HOLD MEETING

All plans have been completed for the opening of the series of sermons by Brother Noble at the Church of Christ.

The sermons will begin Saturday night, October 19 and will continue through October 27. The membership of the church are very happy to have this minister for the sermons. A cordial invitation is extended the public to attend and hear these Bible talks.

The Church of Christ bases all its doctrines and preaching upon the quoted text of the Bible and enjoys a distinction in this and other ways.

Our Mistake

T. G. Sampson, pioneer, calls attention to an error in the Herald last week. In a story the statement was made that no white man had ever been given the death sentence in Milam county.

Mr. Sampson says George Lester was given the death penalty many years ago for killing a negro, Woods McClellen, but died one week before the date of execution. The publishers are thankful to Mr. Sampson for this information.

Lee and Tommy Howell in New York for the past two months, are in Cameron for a few days with their mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Howell. Hilton Howell of Waco and Bill Howell and family of Rockdale were also visiting in the home of their parents Sunday.

Complete Testimony In Raby Hill Trial

Testimony began at 10 o'clock Friday morning in the case of Raby Hill, charged with the murder of George Richards, city nightwatchman here on September 22.

Architect Testifies

J. E. Johnson, architect, of Cameron was first called by the State. At the request of the District Attorney he had drawn plans showing the stores on Main Street from Cheeves Brothers to the New Cameron Drug Company on the south side of the street and from the Citizens National Bank to the Court House on the north side of the street. The shooting occurred on Main Street.

Chas C. Smith, Mayor, was the second witness. He told of the duties Geo. Richards as city nightwatchman and fire marshal.

Jack Richards Talks

Jack Richards, nephew of George Richards, nightwatchman who was killed, was the third witness called to the stand. He testified: "Uucle George and I were standing in front of the place where I work, about 60 feet from the Newport Cafe. A truck came down the street and made a U turn in front of the Lyons Dry Goods Store and parked in front of the Newport Cafe. Uncle George hollowed, "Don't do that" and walked down the street to the parked car. He first walked up to the car on the right hand side and then went around the back end to the drivers side. In a short time, he came back around behind the truck then again on the right hand side and stepped upon the side walk. Erskine Hill the driver, got out of the car and stepped upon the sidewalk. Raby Hill walked out of the cafe. Erskine Hill said "Why don't you arrest me now you————" and struck at Richards. Uncle George was holding his clock by a strap over his right shoulder. He returned the lick to Erskine Hill with his left hand, and then Raby Hill started shooting. Uncle George bent over and grabbed his stomach with his right hand.

Widow Fights Back Tears

Mrs. George Richards chocked back her sobs and showed considerable control over her emotions while being questioned about her husband, George Richards, city night watchman, who was shot to death here on September 22. She took the witness stand Friday afternoon. The defense did not question Mrs. Richards.

Physician Relates

Dr. W. R. Newton, Jr., local physician, who examined the body of Richards on the night he was killed, stated that five bullets entered the body, causing eight wounds, and puncturing three vital organs, the heart, stomach and lungs.

Heard Remarks by Hill

Wyatt Miller testified that he was at the Bob's Busy Bee cafe at the time of the shooting. When he heard shots, he and others walked out and up in front of the Newport Cafe and saw George Richards, city nightwatchman, lying out in the gutter, face down. Miller stated that he overheard Raby Hill say to his brother, Erskine Hill "Go on into the back or upstairs and behave yourself; I've killed the son————."

Negro Witness Testifies

Richard Red, a negro, was also a state witness. He passed near the scene of the shooting, prior to the firing of the shots and heard heated words being spoken between Erskine Hill and the nightwatchman. The curse words came from Erskine Hill, he testified. Red further testified that he walked on up the street about 75 feet from the scene. He saw Richards turn while standing in the street, as if to walk away, and then turn back again and step upon the sidewalk and stuck out his left hand as if reaching for Erskine Hill. After Raby Hill came out of the cafe, the shooting followed, and the city nightwatchman fell off the sidewalk backwards into the gutter, Red further testified.

Undertaker Testifies

Leland Green, local undertaker, who was called for ambulance service to the scene of the shooting and Clarence McCall, deputy Sheriff, who assisted in the arrest of Raby Hill, testified, but were not questioned at length.

The State rested at 4 p. m. Friday afternoon. Testimony was resumed again at 7 p. m.

The State rested at 4 p. m. Friday and the defense opened at 7 o'clock Friday night.

Before the defense opened, Judge W. G. Gillis instructed the jury that Mrs. Richard's testimony as to her family consisting of two children, the aged mother of her husband who was deceased, was to be withdrawn from their consideration.

Miller Back On

The State made its first inquiry by having Wyatt Miller, a state witness placed back on the stand. "You have an unkind feeling toward Hill, don't you," the defense inquired. "For the man on trial, I do not, Miller answered. "What about Erskine, his brother," the defense lawyer asked. "Well, I've seen folks I like better," Miller replied.. It was further disclosed that Miller and Erskine Hill had had a fight about a year ago.

Defense Witnesses

W. H. Hickman, Robert Esslinger, Preston Lewis, LaVert McKinney, J. D. Williams were among the defense witnesses, and were in hearing distance of the shots at various places of business at that hour of the night, between 12 and 1 o'clock when the shooting occured.

Hickman stated that he saw a gun lying slightly in Richard's right hand. Esslinger testified that he saw a gun lying between the right arm and the body of Richard. Lewis testified that he saw Richard's right hand clutching the butt of the gun.

Esslinger and Lewis said they were among those who helped to turn the body of Richards over, and that one of the boys picked up the gun out of Richard's hand and upon being told to put it back where he got it, the gun was placed in the left hand

Yates Relates Trouble

Johnnie Yates, who witnessed the shooting of George Richards, city night watchman, testified as a defense witness.

He related that he and Erskine Hill were coming back to town from Skeezix and when they got in front of the Newport Cafe, Raby Hill was standing out in front and waved at them. Erskine said "Just a minute." Erskine stopped his car. Richards was up the street and started waving at Erskine. Erskine let up on his brakes and rolled down to the sidewalk.

Yates refused to admit to the district attorney on cross examination that Erskine Hill made a U turn, but under pressure of the district attorney stated that he had turned to the left side of the street.

Richards Goes To Truck

Yates further related: Richards came on up to the car and stated: "Why did you stop there. You had no business stopping there; you violated the law stopping that way." Erskine replied: "You waived at me to stop here." Richards said: "Your name will be with the mayor on Monday morning. Talk to him about it." "If I owe you a fine, I'll pay you now," Yates quoted Erskine as saying. Richards and Erskine Hill stepped upon the sidewalk and continued to talk of the incident. Raby Hill walked out on the side walk and inquired as to what was the trouble and offered to pay for the fine if Erskine owed one as he waved at him to stop. "I'll cut out some of your foolishness," Richards stated and pulled back his clock and hit Raby. He hit Raby on the shoulder. Raby dodged. Richards stepped back and dropped his clock and grabbed his gun, Yates further related.

Raby Hill Testifies

Raby Hill, 41, took the witness stand in his defense, Saturday morning at 11 o'clock. He answered all questions calmly, but showed impatience when under cross-examination was told to demonstrate the position he was in at the time he drew his gun and started firing at Richards.

Told To Watch Richards

Hill was told to relate occasions on which he had talked to Richards, and of Richard's actions toward him prior to the shooting. Hill testified: "When I went into my cafe business, a man came to me and told me that I had better look out for Richards; that he was a man who would give me a lot of trouble, and I replied that I had done nothing, and saw no reason why he would want to give me any trouble. The next night as Richards came by I talked to Mr. Richards and told him about the conversation with the man, and told Mr. Richards that I didn't know him, but wanted to be his friend. That I had always tried to be peaceful and a friend to the law. Richards replied:'You tend to your business and I will tend to mine.'"

Cautioned Son About Firecrackers

"Then, again on July 4 my little eight year old son was shooting firecrackers on the side walk. We had been told that it was all right to shoot them on that day. Richards came up and took my son by the arm and inquired whose boy he was. He told him that he was Raby Hill's boy. He told me to make the boy quit shooting firecrackers and I told him I would and also told my son that if he didn't quit shooting them that the man would lock him up, and to which Richards replied: 'No you are the one I'll put in jail."

Had Words With Officer

"I told Mr. Richards that I had done nothing to be put in jail for and to which he replied: 'you're one of those tuff boys, aren't you.' I stated to him that I wasn't but if I had done anything to be arrested for if he would go over to the jail and call me I would go over and let him lock me up. I felt like Mr. Richards had been misinformed about my character and as to my getting along with people.

Richards at Cafe

During my absence at the cafe several times, Mr. Richards made remarks to my wife about the business such as finding fault with the marble machine playing, the music, and asking why we didn't hire decent girls, and had threatened to lock up some of my customers if they didn't quit drinking beer there, and had on one or two occasions made my customers get up and leave their supper to move their trucks because they had been parked parallel to the side walks, due to their being too long to be parked at the curb correctly."

Had Large Sum of Money

"On the night of the shooting, which was Saturday night, after I had checked my cash register, I found that I

Cigarettes give a lot of pleasure to a lot of people.

More cigarettes are smoked today because more people know about them—they are better advertised.

But the main reason for the increase is that they are made better—made of better tobaccos; then again the tobaccos are blended—a blend of Domestic and Turkish tobaccos.

Chesterfield is made of mild, ripe tobaccos. Everything that science knows about is used in making it a milder and better-tasting cigarette.

IT'S HOME TOWN SERVICE

The best part about your telephone service is that it's home town service — tailor-made for you at the switchboard by people who live and work here.

Experts on American Telephone & Telegraph Company's headquarters staff can develop better methods of giving you service. Scientists of Bell Telephone Laboratories can contribute new inventions and scientific developments. Western Electric can buy and manufacture economically for the 24 operating companies of the Bell System.

And all of these things can — and do —help us tremendously at the job of giving you good telephone service at a fair cost.

Yet not one of them could replace the qualities of friendliness and neighborliness which grow out of the fact that the men and women who operate the telephones here belong to and are part of this community.

You can't measure those qualities. You can't set them down on monthly reports. Yet they have a large part in the job of providing telephone service.

EDITORIAL

The huge crowds that visited the Cameron school exhibit at the Milam County Fair Thursday, Friday and Saturday, October 10, 11 and 12, brought the question, "Why?" to our minds. To the average student the exhibit probably seemed uninteresting and commonplace, but the throngs of "grown ups" seemed greatly interested. The exhibit was a convenient way for them to find out what the students of this school are doing. Fond parents pointed with pride to things done by their childre, but people who did not have children in school also seemed proud of the exhibit. This goes to show that the public is interested in our education. Through taxes they give us the opportunity to attend school, and we must try to make our work something for them to be proud of.

POEM

By Aleyne Humbles

Ten little pickaninnies
Standing in a line;
One struck a match,
Then there were nine.

Nine little pickaninnies
Hanging on a gate,
One lit a firecracker,
Then there were eight.

Eight little pickaninnies
Trying to get to heaven;
Then there were seven.

Seven little pickaninnies
All piling up sticks;
One lit a bonfire,
Then there were six.

Six little pickaninnies
All very much alive;
One found an oily rag,
Then there were five.

Five little pickaninnies
Peeping through the door;
Along came a naughty spark,
Then there were four.

Four little pickaninnies
Climbing up a tree;
One set the leaves afire,
Then there were three.

Three little pickaninnies
Watching for some fun;
Poured out some kerosene,
And then there was one.

One little pickaninny
Started out to run;
Stumbled on a live wire,
And then there was none.

Ten dead pickaninnies
All for lack of brain;
Started out to play with fire,
And found out they couldn't gain.

YOEMEN TO MEET TAYLOR DUCKS FRIDAY

The Cameron Yoemen will meet the Taylor Ducks at the Yoemen field Friday night, October 18, at 8 o'clock. The Ducks will be fighting to stay in the race after defeat by Belton. The Yoemen are getting ready to give the Ducks the worst fight of the season. We are expecting a large crowd of fans from Rosebud and Rockdale because they do not have a game Friday. Joe McLean, a star back for the Yoemen, is ready to score a touchdown against the Ducks. Their motto is "Duck soup for supper."

The Yoemen defeated the Georgetown Eagles by a score of 32 to 0. Joe McLean scored four touchdowns and the other was made by a fumble. Cameron has some hard games coming soon, and the team will have to fight to get the district championship.

To Keep Us Out of War

War between Italy and Ethiopia is now a certainty. War between Italy and Great Britain is very probable, with other nations of the League likely to become involved. The Italian leader, Mussolini, evidently believes that he has so invigorated his nation that it will respond heroically to any emergency. In opposition, the British have vital imperial interests involved and no one who has studied British history thinks for a minute that the British can be scared out of the Mediterranean.

In case of war the nations involved will seek to prohibit suplies ad military material from other countries. American munition manufacturers would be flooded with orders for any beligerent with cash or credit. Eventually the war trade might have a tendency to involve the United States. Under a recent law an automatic embargo on the shipment of munitions goes into effect against nations at war.

A muitions board has been created, consisting of five cabinet members, which has the power to register manufacture of arms and munitions and to prescribe war articles the shipment of which would be forbidden in case of war. This includes all kinds of guns and equipment, shells and projectiles, machinery to manufacture the same, gun powder and explosives, including mines and bombs, gases, scietific apparatus used in war, air craft and war vessels.

Secretary of State Hull is Chairman of the Board and it is expected that the State Department will take every possible step to avoid America becoming involved. It so turns out that this authority will enable the Department of State to indirectly cooperae with the League of Nations should that international organization decree an economic boycott of Italy.

What Might Happen

Whether one admires General Hugh S. Johnson or approes what he says, give him credit for facing facts as he talks.

The other day he urged business an dindustry to cope with the unemployment problem, which he says will not be adequately handled by PWA's "demoralizing process." The only way out, says he, is normal private employment at decent wages under proper conditions in useful work.

To an audience in New York City, where thereare 1,300,000 persons dependent upon relief, he declared that to cut off relief would mean "riot, rebellion or revolution" within two weeks. Moreover, he asserted that "neither you nor I nor any other able bodied specimen of the genus homo would sit around and see his family starve to death for the sake of the public peace."

What would happen? "He would put a short section of lead pipe in his pocket and go out and get it where it was to be got. Just now the ugly problem is out of sight but the Federal government can't go on "pouring out $5,000,000,000 a year in soothing syrup to keep the unemployment imp from raising hell all over this nation."

Strong words, perhaps, but in our opinion justified. The government that permits its people to starve will not last any longer than it will take the people to get together and destroy it. The opportunity must be offered able-bodied persons to work for their living and to care for their families. If private enterprise, embodied in huge business undertakings cannot do this then the nation expects the government to do it.

Education Tainted

"One trouble with education in America today," says President- Emeritis Poteat of Wake Forest College, is that it is being tainted with commercialism."

Dr. Poteat declared that despite increased enrollments in schools and colleges and other educational activities America as a whole was still an ignorant country.

"Real culture such as we find in large measures in Great Britain is still a premium," said Dr. Poteat.

The advance of commercialism in the colleges had resulted in the introduction of courses which have no rightful place in higher educotion, he said. "We have even got to the point where you can buy scholarship."

The complaint of Dr. Poteat may be justified in part. When one sees the standing of a college more affected by the football team than the scholarship of the faculty one wonders considerably, especially when nowadays whose football teams are sometimes imported into colleges by coaches who want to make good.

The old formula of higher education was probably devoted to the development of the literary and cultural, to the neglect of the practical and useful subjects which become available with the advance of knowledge and science.

In all probability some institutions have deserted the old cultural subjects too much and gone entirely into the commercial or practical. It is doubtless hard for an educator to maintain an even balance between the practical necessities of a new age and the older, cultural traditions of the previous years.

No Forced Salutes to the Flag

Readers of the Herald are probably aware of the crisis recently precipitated in Lynn, Massachusetts, when Carlton Nichols, aged 8, refused to salute the American flag as required, every five school days, of every student.

The law, it seems, which insists upon this compulsory salute says that teachers and students must also sing "America" once in the school week and provide a $5 fine for each failure.

When the boy, on religious grounds refused to salute the flag there was quite a stir among the school officials who did not know whether they could expel him or not because of the state law requiring every child to attend school.

For our part we have no sympathy with any law that requires a salute to the flag. We have no understanding of the logic that expects patriotism and love of country to develop from such a forced obeisance, or from any other form of compulsion.

When the day dawns that any American is compelled to salute the flag of his country, except because he wishes to pay tribute to the ideals for which it is an honored symbol, then the Stars and Stripes should be furled and, in its place, there should be raised a banner of tyranny and fear.

Reviving Human Beings

The revival of human beings after "incomplete death" will be attempted by a new institute being organized in Russia under the direction of Dr. S. S. Brukhoneko, who has experimented with reviving animals.

Incomplete death is defined as death in an accident where vital organs are intact and the Russian has perfected an artificial heart to keep blood circulating until the heart renews its work. He says the mechanism must be applied within forty minutes to revive an animal and presumably, a person.

People who may be inclined to laugh at the proposed institute might remember that artificial respiration snatches many people from the grave. Without its aid some of living would be entirely dead instead of enjoying life after an experience that might certainly be classed as "incomplete death."

Attack By Parachute

The army of Soviet Russia has been ranked first in the world by the French General Loiseau, Vice-Chief of Staff, after seeing the Red Army maneuver at Kief. He saw the Soviet army launch an attack by parachute and commented as follows:

"Your aviation, too, merits the highest praise, whether in large or small formations or individual action. As for the parachute attack, I consider that factor unprecedented in the world, and I was particularly impressed by the fact that it was not a mere display but a performance of highly qualified men who had volunteered for such service and who flung themselves into disciplined attack within a few minutes of landing. An amazing type of soldiers."

Premature Hallowe'en

All over the country police orders seem to be going out against premature celebrations of Hallowe'en. From the standpoint of irrepressible youth youth this may seem like tyrannical oppression. But tyrannical or otherwise, something of the sort seems necessary.

But is youth entirely responsible for the early celebration of this autumn festival of witchery and mystery? What can a healthy youth think when it sees windows aglow with masks, false faces, costumes, table decorations and other objects suggestive of the Halloe'en season? It would be an odd boy indeed who with such stimulation did not begin to think of the tick-tacks, chalked windows, corn-throwing and the more reckless phases of the celebration.

Of course this nation cannot become so paternalistic as to forbid the display of a merchant's goods and it cannot very effectively control the thinking of youth and so about all it can do is what it is doing, promise dire punishment for the lads and lassies who begin their Hallowe'en celebrations too far in advance of the day set for that purpose.

What, of course, is not clear to older minds is what fun the youngsters get out of a month's celebration of Hallowe'en. From recollections of childhood the old folks can readily understand how to pack a lot of fun into a night or two of revelry, but the idea of thinking it out over a week or more has little appeal for the elders, though apparently the young folks see it differently.

Napiorski, Barbatski, Lesinski, Wojciechowicz, Gangemi, Gurske and Lanechia are members of the '35 Fordham eleven—known as Rams for short.

"Variety" reports an offer from Germany received by Solly Violinsky, a vaudeville performer. The salary quoted is $1,250 a week and funeral expenses.

Healthful

The opinion of an eminent physician concerning the healthfulness of winter weather deserves consideration by all those interested in good, bad and indifferent health. And who is not?

Except for the smoke products that are belched from the chimneys, and which sometimes hover over whole communities like fogs, winter weather is cleaner than that which humanity breathes at any other time of the year. For this condition two climatic factors are responsible.

Perhaps the most important of the two is the northwest cold wave wind. Born in circumpolar latitudes, it comes from a region uncontaminated with smoke and soot and other corruptions of civilization. It comes from high altitudes as well as from high latitudes. As it rolls down from wilderness it gives that part of Mother Earth over which it spreads a thorough cleansing.

The meteorologist who declared it to be the greatest asset of health that large areas of the United States receive, did not exaggerate its importance. Humanity does not breathe cleaner and more health giving air—incidentally, there is no such thing as pure air in the natural state.

The second factor insuring the healthful conditions of winter is the snow storm. Snow combs the dust and other impurities from the air even more effectively than does a shower of rain. Moreover, it seals decaying organic matter on the ground, and when the ground is blanketed with snow there is no dust being stirred up for people to breathe.

Winter climate indoors, however, is another thing. With so much purer and healthier air outdoors, why do so many people endanger their health by hibernating with the first cold blast?

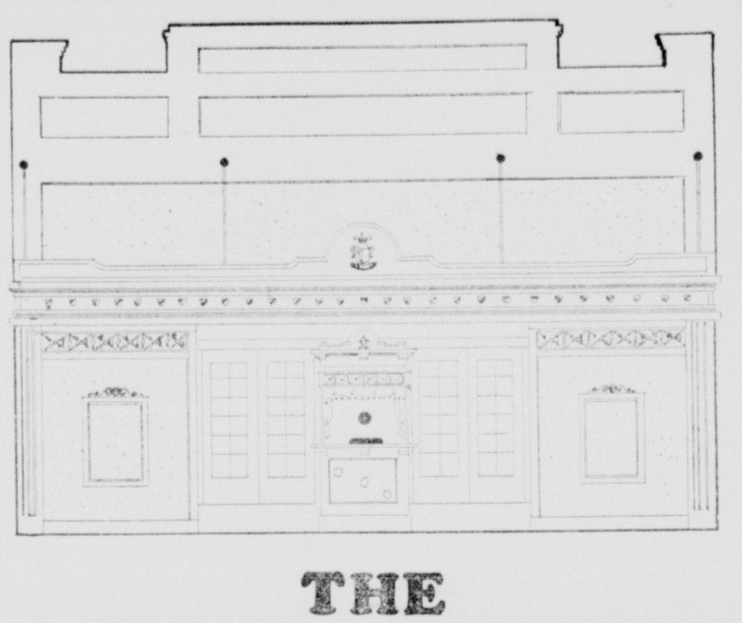

Parents and Football

The usual fall discussion deplores the emphasis upon athletics, particularly foot ball, at the higher institutions of learning. It appears to us that emphasized athletics at nearly all these institutions, with foot ball in the center of the picture, confronts parents with a fact, not a theory—a fact not likely soon to disappear. When we face a fact, it occurs to our simple mind that the question is what to do about it.

We hear of fathers who slyly encourage their son's athletic aspirations whilst making the gratification, together with other wants, such as, say a roadster, dependent upon a respectable scholastic showing also. Cases differ so entirely that there can be no rule. The presence of the distinctions upon "champs" or near champs, in college athletics nevertheless becomes a stern fact in a host of cases. They yearn to shine in the sports with a passion not to be rashly denied.

Not all the gridiron heroes of former days, nor all the one-time outstanding athletes in other fields, turned out failures in later life. Not by any means. Butting a stern fact head-on does not demolish it and generally hurts. Perhaps, in many cases, the old man can skirt the end him self, circle the fact, use it slyly and score a touchdown himself. Encouraging numbers of the youngsters may still be tactfully steered so that in the net result they swim, run, bat or forward pass through the lecture rooms. A not unreasoned optimism serves to say that the needful mental equipment may be attained, as it were, on the side.

YOEMEN TAKE GEORGETOWN IN SENSATIONAL PLAY

JOE McLEAN LEADS IN SCORING ATTACK; WING CRAWFORD BIG STAR

Getting over their second hurdle in the Conference race the Yoemen gained an impressive victory over Georgetown here Friday night by the one sided score of 32 to 0. The Yoemen have played four games this season and have not been scored on.

Georgetown is not rated a contender in the flag race. The Eagles were helpless before the Yoemen. Joe McLean, an undoubted all conference back, led the scoring rampage. He made four out of five touchdowns. Ermis, veteran guard, made the fifth.

Cameron won the toss and elected to defend the east goal. Georgetown kicked to Joe McLean on the 10 yard line and the Cameron back ran it back 18 yards. McLean pulled one of his sensational quick punts as the Eagle's safety man was drawn in and the ball was downed on Georgetown's 20 yard line.

Texas Aggie Backfield Stars

Four new comers are doing much to add speed and elusiveness to the Texas Aggie backfield this year, two things Aggie backs have lacked, to a large extent during the past few years. They include Bob Nesrsta and Dick Vitek, sophomores; Waylon (Chink) Manning, who transferred this year from Lamar College, Beaumont; and Ed Wicker, who became scholastically eligible for grid play this year

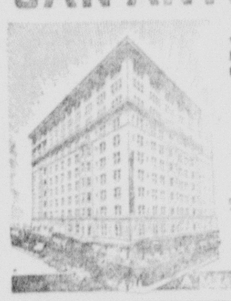

Nesrsta, a 170-pounder from Flatonia, ranks as the Aggies' chief backfield threat, having speed, drive and the ability to run, pass and punt. Manning, who comes from Beaumont and who weighs about 160 pounds, is the best broken field runner the Cadets have seen on their team in several years.

Besides being a good ball carrier, Dick Vitek has much "football sense" and is developing into a fine quarterback. He is from Granger and weighs 161. Wicker, of Corpus Christi, is slowly learning to control his speed, sidestep and otherwise get his 187 pounds past tacklers. He runs the 100 yard dash in 9.7 when track season rolls around.

der. The man was George Lester who killed a negro, Woods McClellen. One week before the date of execution Lester died. The district attorney made a plea for the "extreme penalty." The argument for the state was opened by E. A. Camp of Rockdale, father of the district attorney, who assisted in the prosecution.

Got Early Trial

Termination of the case which created wide interest and was sensational in its appeal, has led many to congratulate the young prosecutor who forced trial by bringing in "absent witnesses." Early trial following the offense, was regarded as in part responsible for the vindication of the state's cause.

Plea of Self Defense

In defense Hill, who took the stand, said he shot Richards in fear of his life. His attorneys made a self defense plea. The complete testimony in the case is carried as a matter of news and informaiton, in another part of this paper. Richards was shot to death as he talked with Erskine Hill, a brother of Raby Hill, about a traffic violation at 1 a. m. September 22. Hill testified that Richards struck him. Other witnesses testified that, Erskine Hill struck Richards and that Richards returned the lick with his left hand. The shoting followed.

HOYTE NEWS

Hoyte P. T. A. held their first meeting last Friday afternoon October 11 with 15 mothers present. The following officers were elected: president, Mrs. Nancy Lea Vaughan; vice president, Mrs. Clyde Hensley; secretary, Mrs. Rynn. Plans were outlined for the year and everyone seemed anxious to be of some service to their school and community. At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by the teachers Mrs. Vaughan and Miss Randolph.

We, the teachers and pupils of Hoyte school, wish to express our appreciation to the trustees who were so kind as to give us a half holiday last Thursday that we might attend the opening of the Milam county fair at Cameron and to Mr. Robert Conner who was kind enough to make the extra trips out to the school for our conveyance to the Fair and we must not forget to thank the parents who were so patient and nice in helping us to care for the small pupils while at the fair grounds. We want to assure you that we had a nice time.

After returning to the school the pupils were asked to write a one topic discussion of what interested them most at the fair. Strange, but true, most of them were interested in the fair attractions rather than carnival attractions. Quite a few papers were written on the school exhibits, but more and better papers were written on the farm exhibits.

For your Health's sake . . .

HEAT Your ENTIRE House

If you are susceptible to colds, and most people have from two to three each winter, you owe it to your health to heat your home adequately as a protection against sudden changes in temperature which are a contributory cause of colds.

With the entire house properly heated and ventilated, you have greater comfort and the satisfaction of knowing that you are taking the precaution of guarding your family's health.

One single illness to a member of your family will cost you far more in money and suffering than the few dollars you will spend for adequate heat to combat winter colds. So look over your heating equipment now. Some might need repairing. Some might need replacing altogether with modern equipment. Whatever it takes, do it now, for August is the opportune time to buy advantageously modern gas heating equipment. For your health's sake, heat your entire home.

LONE STAR GAS SYSTEM

"G-Men" of Heating Wage War On Colds

America's Public Enemy Number One, the common cold, is about to be put on the spot. The heat is to be turned on and this rampaging foe of mankind, recognized as the most vicious and destructive of all diseases, is finally to be "taken for a ride" by none other than the G-Men, in this case the gas men.

How to Heat Homes

Starting in today's issue of this newspaper, the gas company is launching one of the most intensive campaigns ever devised to teach people how to properly heat their homes in order to protect their health. They have declared war against the disease germs that lurk in cold hallways and unheated rooms. Backed by medical authorities they state that the family which huddles in one room over an open flame heater with the windows tightly closed is inviting disaster. An even heat throughout the entire house is said to be one of the best protections against colds, while to pass from a hot room into a cold hallway is an invitation for the deadly cold and pneumonia germs to strike.

Colds Are Costly

The common cold is costing the American people hundreds of millions of dollars yearly and doctors have found that one of the most fertile breeding grounds for this germ is the stuffy, overheated, poorly ventilated room. It is for this reason that the gas company, according to its officials, is taking the lead in public education to reduce the ravages of colds, pneumonia and similar diseases by instructing the public in the proper methods of heating their homes.

Many To Aid

With newspaper advertisements, booklets and information of all kinds, the bombardment is to continue through the heating season. Doctors, scientists, heating engineers, ventilating experts, public authorities, newspapers and others have been enlisted for the war.

Mrs. Saddler, wife of Dr. Leslie Saddler of Waco, has returned to her home after visiting her sister, Mrs. Graham Gillis for a few days.

COLONIAL DAMES

Mrs. T. D. Roundtree and Mrs. E. B. Phillips of Rockdale and Mrs. R. H. McIntosh of Cameron were joint hostesses for an interesting meeting of the Colonial Dames of America, Thursday afternoon of last week in the home of Mrs. McIntosh.

Beautiful fall roses lent added beauty to this well appointed home. This was an all day meeting with business in the morning and again in the afternoon.

A delightful turkey dinner was served in three courses. The table was attractively laid with snowy linens and gleaming silver, and was decorated in the gold and blue colors of the chapter. A beautiful centerpiece of roses added beauty to the table. Seated around the festive board were Mrs. P. S. Tilson of Houston, state president of the association, who acted as toastmaster for the occasion; Mrs. R. B. Browder, Mrs. E. T. Harris, Mrs. Charles Oden, Robert Ring of Houston; Mrs. C. C. French, Mrs. James E. Gardner, Mrs. J. K. Rosson of Fort Worth; Mrs. W. A. Morrow, Waco; and the three hostesses. During the luncheon a number of telegrams were received and read, among them was one from Mrs. Harry Horton Benkard, national president general of New York City. A number of beautiful bouquets were sent in by friends. Each guest received a souvenir, a pretty colonial hat in gold filled with miniature roses.

The chapter meets semi-annually. Only members of the association were present.

Thoughts and Notes at a Murder Trial.

Life is a wonderful thing, especially when you can wake up each morning with a light heart and a song on your lips, and can appreciate the refreshing and soothing feeling that comes from a light cool breeze blowing into your face, and the songs and twitterings of the birds in the trees——but to wake up each morning with the same feeling, a feeling of heaviness in the heart, knowing that you had taken life, something that you could never replace, no song would rise in your heart for your lips to respond to, it seems that would be one of the effects of murder.

A description given from the witness stand in a murder: He fell face down in the gutter, and as he gasped for breath, the blood bubbled and ran out of the bullet wounds in the back, soaking through the loose fitting coat.

Cameron does manage to retain the atmosphere of "the Friendly City" to some strangers, although the annual event of murder occurs. A man who was called from out of the county as a witness in the trial states that he thought Cameron was one of the friendliest cities he had been in. "Almost everyone you meet, even though you are a stranger, has a friendly greeting for you," the out of town witness said.

An eight year old boy sitting on the knee of his father in the court room while the father is being tried for murder——wonder what impressions that youthful mind received and how he will re-act to these in future years.

Saw a youth in the court room, who a year or so ago was charged and tried for taking the life of another boy by shooting him with a pistol. It is recalled that a short time before this youth received his verdict, which was a five year suspended sentenre he stated: "I don't want to go back to jail——to have to sit there and think and think——it will drive me crazy."

Don't Guess But Know

Whether the "Pain" Remedy You Use is SAFE?

Don't Entrust Your Own or Your Family's Well-Being to Unknown Preparations

THE person to ask whether the preparation you or your family are taking for the relief of headaches is SAFE to use regularly is your family doctor. Ask him particularly about Genuine BAYER ASPIRIN.

He will tell you that before the discovery of Bayer Aspirin most "pain" remedies were advised against by physicians as bad for the stomach and, often, for the heart. Which is food for thought if you seek quick, safe relief.

Scientists rate Bayer Aspirin among the fastest methods yet discovered for the relief of headaches and the pains of rheumatism, neuritis and neuralgia. And the experience of millions of users has proved it safe for the average person to use regularly. In your own interest remember this.

You can get Genuine Bayer Aspirin at any drug store — simply by asking for it by its full name, BAYER ASPIRIN. Make it a point to do this — and see that you get what you want.

had a large sum of money. There is a lot of robbing going on over the country and realizing I had a considerable sum of money, I put my gun on inside of my shirt down in the belt. I walked out in front of my cafe to get some fresh air. Erskine, my brother, was passing going east. I threw up my hand waveing for him to stop. He replied 'Just a minute' and made a curve into the left side of the street. I heard a 'Hey!'"

Says Richards Hit Him

"Richards and Erskine stepped upon the side walk and Richards said: 'You'll have to pay the mayor a fine,' and then Erskine stated 'I don't think I should have to pay a fine.' I walked up and said 'What's the trouble now' and Richards hit me with his clock on the shoulder. His lick knocked me forward and as I raised my head up, I saw Richards had his gun in his hand. I then reached for my gun and started shooting and did not stop firing until Richards fell."

Felt Life Endangered

"I shot Richards to keep him from shooting me," Hill answered to a question.

"Did you intend for the bullets to hit him?"

"I did, but I would much rather have disabled him than to have killed him."

"After I shot Richards, I walked into the cafe and put my gun away and called Sheriff Kennedy."

Brashear Testifies

Womack Brashear, Justice of Peace Precinct No. 1, was placed on the stand Saturday afternoon in the state's rebuttal. He testified that the gun of Richards had not been fired.

All testimony was closed in the case at 2:30 p. m. Saturday for the preparation of charge. Arguments in the case began on Monday morning.

A precious one from us has gone;
A voice we loved is stilled;
A place is vacant in our home
Which can never be filled.

The boon his love had given—
Although the body slumbers here,
The soul is safe in heaven.

Sharp Loses to Thorndale 14 to 0

The Sharp Yellowjackets were defeated Friday afternoon by the Thorndale Bulldogs by a score of 14 to 0. Sharp will meet Lexington here Friday. Meridith "Babe" Greer has recently been elected captain of the squad and Ralph "Rastus" Mullinax is the new mascot and manager combined.

The citizens of Sharp rushed out last Friday to see three covered wagons pass through. This scene carried our minds back to the old colonial days. Some of those who viewed the scene thought perhaps this was the pre--Centennial program for Sharp.

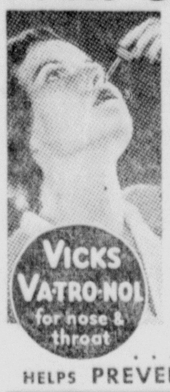

Sharp was very thinly populated Monday because most of the men were in Cameron at the trial of Raby Hill.

Mrs. Bill Gregory and Lois Gregory are visiting in this community at present.

Dalton Stephens, who is working in Calvert visited his friends and relatives during the week end.

Rev. Oblodo will preach in the W. O. W. Hall at Sharp Sunday afternoon at 3:30 in behalf of the Mexicans of the local districts.

•common Everyday Colds!

"Colds" are dangerous! Don't regard them lightly. According to government statistics, diseases of the breathing apparatus are responsible for more deaths than any other single cause, including cancer or heart disease. While respiratory diseases often start seriously, they are closely related to "colds" and in many instances are directly traceable to catching cold.

Municipalities have made great progress in stamping out typhoid fever, smallpox, diphtheria and other communicable diseases that once demanded their grim death toll. But America's Public Health Enemy Number One, the common cold germ, still rages rampant as a constant threat to the health and safety of our loved ones. Frequently "common colds" pave the way for such serious illnesses as pneumonia, bronchitis, influenza, tuberculosis and other serious respiratory diseases that result in so many deaths each winter.

Any sudden change in temperature as you go from a warm room into a cold one disturbs the heat-regulating apparatus of the body and makes it susceptible to the vicious attacks of "cold germs."

Your health and that of your family is your most valuable possession. Guard it this winter with proper ventilation and adequate heat in every room in the house. COMMUNITY NATURAL GAS COMPANY.

America's Public Health Enemy Number One, the common cold germ, is marshalling his forces for winter!

Tune in each Thursday night at 6:45, WFAA-WBAP, beginning October 17, for vital facts to help you guard your family against Public Health Enemy No. 1
